

Prepare the Way

A Tribute to the Youth and Volunteers
of the Pine Tree Council

Celebrating the opening of the Alton E. "Chuck" Cianchette
Scout Service Center

Pine Tree Council
Boy Scouts of America
Serving 10 counties in central and southern Maine

Over 45 years ago, the William U. Niss Scout Service Center opened for business. Since that time, the Pine Tree Council has grown and expanded. As always our first priority has been the youth and program-related facilities of the council. Now, thanks to the great leadership of our Prepare the Way Campaign and the support of our board, staff, and volunteers, we are able to open the Alton E. "Chuck" Cianchette Scout Service Center. The dream of a new facility and the improvements that are ongoing at our camp properties will prepare the way as we approach the 100th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

This booklet has been prepared to commemorate and celebrate the many aspects of Scouting in the Pine Tree Council. It is hoped that this publication will help document this historical occasion and preserve some of the proud history of this council. More important, it is hoped that the youth of today will recognize that, out of love and concern, many people have worked and sacrificed through the years to enable them to participate in the great programs of Scouting. Hopefully, this book will serve as a reminder to future volunteer leaders, professionals and Scouts of their responsibility to pass on the traditions and values of Scouting to the next generation.

Today over 4,000 adult volunteers provide leadership and mentoring to Cub Scout Packs, Boy Scout Troops, Venturing Crews, Learning for Life Groups, and Explorer Posts in the Pine Tree Council. Their dedication of time and resources has enabled the Boy Scouts of America to remain the foremost program for character development and values-based leadership training in the country. While the positive impact of the Scouting program on our youth members is widely known, our volunteers are the heart of Scouting; their commitment makes it possible for us to deliver outdoor adventure and service-oriented programs to the families of Maine.

On behalf of our youth, adults and families, we would like to thank you for your support of Scouting, and we welcome you to our new Service Center, and to Scouting in the 21st century.

Sincerely,

Bill Coffin

The Alton E. "Chuck" Cianchette Scout Service Center

*F*or over four decades, nearly 20 years longer than its projected useful life, The William U. Niss Service Center, a 4,400-square-foot Scout Service Center at 125 Auburn Street in Portland, has served as the Pine Tree Council's administrative office, communications center, conference facility and Scout Shop.

Due to increased Scout membership and related administrative needs, space constraints have been getting tighter each year, and the facility was no longer able to handle the increased operational workload. Over a two-year period, hundreds of Scouting volunteers across the state evaluated the existing resources and future needs of the Pine Tree Council and developed a strategic plan to meet those needs. As part of this process, the volunteer committee determined that the Pine Tree Council had finally outgrown its existing Service Center.

In 1997, the Pine Tree Council was fortunate to receive a gift of a two-acre parcel of land, adjacent to the Exit 7A Maine Turnpike interchange at Johnson Road in Portland. Market research was conducted on the site, and it was determined that this was an ideal site for a new Scout Service Center. The site would provide more direct access to the center from all the Districts and easier access for our adult volunteers and for customers visiting our Scout Shop. Tom Dunham, a dedicated volunteer and board member, worked extensively to help complete the permitting process for the new piece of land.

At that juncture, it was apparent that the project needed some strong leadership to move forward. The right person for the job was Peter Vigue, President of Cianbro. Peter was excited about the project from the very beginning. Peter was excited about involving not only Cianbro, but also other companies around the state of Maine. Peter noted that Chuck had made such a strong and positive impact throughout the communities of Maine that other companies would be excited about helping out.

The project of building the Alton E. "Chuck" Cianchette Service Center truly turned out to be a team effort. The first piece to be completed was a land survey by Deluca Hoffman, with a substantial reduction in price. SMRT, an architectural firm from Portland, created the building design, which has come to be recognized as "that gorgeous log-cabin-looking building by the airport. SMRT also provided substantial cost reductions to help with the budget.

Cianbro agreed to lead the charge for the project, donating their services as the Construction Manager. The teamwork and positive response from individuals and businesses was contagious and truly amazing. The total cost for the project was reduced by almost half with the support that was received. Literally hundreds of donors and vendors contributed to help make this project a reality.

The final product is a tribute to Alton E. "Chuck" Cianchette that expands our capabilities to offer more services for our Scout leaders and families. The new service center is a fully handicapped-accessible facility with several resources for the units, youths and volunteers. The following features will help the Pine Tree Council better serve the youth of our communities, and the leaders of the future.

- Scout Shop with expanded inventory and resources
- Training room with audio-visual tools
- Volunteer resource room with audio-visuals available for checkout
- Library and museum displaying the history and legacy of Scouting in Maine
- Expanded volunteer resources, materials and computer access
- Expanded training opportunities
- Conference rooms for volunteer use
- Great room for meetings, ceremonies, etc.
- Office is ADA-compliant and built to meet the U.S. Green Building Council's (USGBC) Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design program (LEED)

The Alton E. "Chuck" Cianchette Scout Service Center will, for many years to come, stand as a tribute to what the principles and ideals of Scouting are all about.

Paying Tribute

Alton E. "Chuck" Cianchette (May 18, 1930–January 18, 2000)

The new Scout Service Center will be named for former Council President, the late Alton E. "Chuck" Cianchette, a longtime Scouting supporter. Chuck Cianchette, along with brothers Carl, Bud and Ken, founded the construction company Cianbro 50-plus years ago, with a can-do attitude. Chuck believed in himself, his brothers, the company and all of the employees. That can-do spirit, coupled with the Cianchette brothers' philosophy—treat people with dignity and respect, your word is your bond and give back from which you take—lives on at Cianbro to this day.

Chuck was the youngest of seven siblings. From the time he was a young man, Chuck had an incredible work ethic. When he was seven years old, his fathers and brothers were haying, and Chuck got behind the wheel of a flatbed truck and drove it around the field as they loaded on the hay.

At about the same age, he took over the family Maine Sunday Telegram route that stretched from one end of Pittsfield to the other. With the extra sections, the bundles were too heavy to carry and too bulky for a bicycle. His mother turned two newspaper sacks into saddle bags, and every Sunday morning Chuck and the family donkey headed out.

After graduating from MCI in 1948, he went to work for his brother Carl fulltime. By 1954, after a stint in the U.S. Army, he was running projects and had become a partner with Carl, Ken and Bud in what had become Cianchette Brothers, Inc.

Along with his many talents that he brought to the table, probably one of the most notable was his ability to interact with people. Chuck was a team builder and a skilled motivator. He had a can-do attitude and was capable of accomplishing things that others would think impossible. In 1978, for example, he led a charge of eight construction teams in Holyoke, Mass. And accomplished a two-year sewer job in less than a week.

Chuck credited the support of his wife, Helen, as well as the support of his sisters-in-law, for much of Cianbro's success. Helen kept things running smoothly at home, and that allowed Chuck to focus on his work. His daughter Lynn once said, "Dad may be the eagle, but Mom is the wind beneath his wings."

Chuck was always a devoted father and proud of his three daughters, Tamara Bryce, Lynn Cianchette, and Andrea Maker, and of his only son, Charlie.

Chuck Cianchette was a wonderful teacher, coach, mentor and role model. The Pine Tree Council is honored to name the new Scout Service Center after Alton E. "Chuck" Cianchette.

Dear Scouts and Scouters:

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to extend my personal congratulations to the Scouts and Scouters of the Pine Tree Council on this occasion of dreams being realized in the dedication of your Alton E. "Chuck" Cianchette Scout Service Center.

Throughout the years, the Pine Tree Council has given exemplary service to the youth of its community. Your efforts, along with the support of the community, have enabled the council to expand its service, improve programs and facilities, and prepare the way for thousands of youth and families.

I am certain this new facility will enable the Pine Tree Council to better enhance their image of community pride. Communities throughout Maine will benefit from Scouting's rededication to the principles of duty to God, duty to country, and duty to others.

Again, my personal best wishes to each of you.

Sincerely,

“Prepare the Way” Capital Campaign

In order to continue to provide services to over 24,000 beneficiaries each year, hundreds of volunteers from across the Pine Tree Council were asked to help evaluate the council’s existing resources and future needs. From this information, a strategic plan was developed. A very important piece of the strategic plan was the “Prepare the Way” Capital Campaign. The purpose of the campaign was to help address the critical issues of facility improvement and the expansion of Scouting programs.

At a time when the economy was perceived to be suffering, and there were several capital campaigns taking place throughout communities across the state, it was critical to recruit the right person for the job. From the beginning, there was no doubt that the right person for the job was William J. Ryan.

William J. Ryan is Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of TD Banknorth Inc. TD Banknorth, a majority-owned subsidiary of TD Bank Financial Group, is a $28 billion holding company. TD Banknorth conducts business from its headquarters in Portland, Maine, and more than 400 banking offices in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont and upstate New York. The company is one of the 30 largest commercial banking organizations in the United States.

Mr. Ryan has a quarter-century of banking experience, joining Banknorth in 1989. Prior to joining Banknorth, he served as President of the Bank of New England North in Lowell, Massachusetts, and as Executive Vice President of Community Banking for the Bank of New England in Boston. Earlier in his career, he was President of BNE Baystate, a commercial bank subsidiary of the Bank of New England, and a Vice President of the Bank of New England.

Mr. Ryan serves as a Director and Vice Chairman of TD Bank Financial Group, as well as a Director of WellPoint, Inc., and UnumProvident Corporation. He also serves as a Trustee of Colby College and the Libra Foundation. He is on the Board of Advisors at the University of New England, is a Trustee of the Pine Tree Council, Boy Scouts of America, and participates in various other civic and professional activities.

William J. Ryan,
Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer

As a youth growing up in New York, Bill Ryan had two groups of friends. One set of friends started going to a local Scout Troop and the other set of friends was getting in trouble. He decided to join the local Scout Troop with his friends, and to this day, he credits Scouting with helping lead him on the right path.

The Pine Tree Council is thankful to have a person with the leadership, integrity, values, ethics and dedication that Bill Ryan possesses leading the campaign.

“Prepare the Way” Capital Campaign Leadership Team

*I*n order for any capital campaign to be successful, it takes the right kind of leadership and commitment from the campaign volunteers. The Pine Tree Council is fortunate to have some of the best people from across the state helping to make sure the campaign is a success. The following is a list of campaign leadership and volunteers that have helped the Pine Tree Council “Prepare the Way” for the youth in the state of Maine.

Peter Vigue

When the Pine Tree Council first approached Peter Vigue, President of Cianbro, about leading the construction effort of the Alton E. “Chuck” Cianchette Scout Service Center, he did not hesitate to jump at the opportunity. Not only did Peter Vigue accept the job, he donated the general contracting services of Cianbro to lead the project.

The decision to donate the resources to complete such a large project could have been influenced by a lesson he learned from his friend, mentor and the man the building is being named after, Chuck Cianchette. Peter Vigue recalls this story.

“In the early 1970s Chuck and I were returning from Kittery after looking at a job we were bidding. We stopped in Portland at the Pine Tree Council Boy Scout office. Chuck asked me to wait in the lobby while he was in his meeting. Three hours later, back in the car, I asked him, “What are you doing with the Scouts?” He explained that the chapter was financially insolvent and needed both reorganization and new leadership. Simply, it needed his help. I asked Chuck, “Why are you doing this?” I remember him saying, “Because it comes from the heart. It is the right thing to do.”

Peter Vigue is a man with strong beliefs and solid convictions—he tells the truth and proves it with action. Peter Vigue believes that success is the result of personal sacrifice and never, ever giving up. He is confident and disciplined—his optimism is contagious.

Although Peter Vigue’s vision and determination are his greatest gifts, his capacity to love and truly care about other people is his greatest strength. Peter Vigue understands success and has helped hundreds, if not thousands, of individuals and organizations find and keep theirs.

The Pine Tree Council would like to thank Peter Vigue and Cianbro for leading the charge in the construction of the Alton E. “Chuck” Cianchette Scout Service Center. For many years to come, it will serve thousands of youth and adults in the Scouting program.

Scouting's Origin

Before we can tell the story of Scouting in the Pine Tree Council, we must first relate the origin of the Scouting movement. When British Colonel Robert Baden-Powell wrote a little book, Aids to Scouting, in 1899, he had no way of knowing that this would be the start of the world's Scout movement. The word "Scouting" in the title had nothing to do with the Boy Scouts. The term was a military Scouting, and he had written the book to help inadequately trained soldiers master the skills of survival (tracking, stalking and living off the land).

Following the Boer War in South Africa, Colonel Baden-Powell returned to England in 1903 as a national hero. He found, to his surprise, that the book he had written was being adapted and used in schools for boys. Although the ideas, which underline the ideals of the Boy Scouts, did not start with any one man, Baden-Powell's outdoor skills, leadership qualities, national fame and knowledge of many languages enabled him to assemble a special library of books about boys' work. He consulted and worked with numerous individuals, such as Ernest Thompson Seton, an American author and naturalist who had created a program for boys called "Woodcraft Indians"; Dan Beard, an illustrator and author who created a program called "The Sons of Daniel Boone"; Byron W. Forbush, Ph.D., creator of "Knightly," a youth program centered around King Arthur and the Round Table; and Edgar M. Robinson, who was directing a program for boys at the Y.M.C.A.

Baden-Powell determined that a practical test of his ideas and research was needed. In late July and August of 1907, a remarkable cross-section of boys from street gangs, boys' schools, family, friends and associates was brought together for the first Boy Scout encampment on an island called Brownsea. The camp was a huge success, and in 1908 the first part of Scouting for Boys was published.

Baden-Powell had no intention of starting a new movement; he wanted to give some ideas that might improve movements that already existed, but he found that thousands of boys were forming themselves into patrols and doing Scouting—without the help or supervision of adults. In 1909, less than two years after the camp at Brownsea Island, Baden-Powell announced that he would have a rally for Boy Scouts at a large hall near London called the Crystal Palace. He was astonished when 11,000 Scouts arrived.

Scouting in America

Everyone is familiar with the Scout Motto, “Be Prepared”; however, it was the Scout slogan, “Do A Good Turn Daily,” that officially brought Boy Scouts to the United States. A Chicago publisher, William D. Boyce, during a visit to London in 1909, became lost in a thick fog. An unknown British youth refused to accept a tip after helping Mr. Boyce find his way. He explained that he was a Scout and it was his duty to help others. Boyce was so impressed with this young Scout that he visited with Baden-Powell to learn more about Scouting. Like a proud father, Baden-Powell poured out the story of his organization of boys and the needs it filled. When Boyce set sail for America a few days later, he carried with him a suitcase filled with books and pamphlets about the Boy Scouts.

On February 10, 1910, Boyce and a group of associates incorporated the new organization in Washington, D.C., as “The Boy Scouts of America.” On February 11, 1910, “The Boy Scouts of America” was a name only—no actual organization existed. It was Boyce’s original intention to use Scouting with his Chicago publication and organize his newspaper boys; however, it became obvious after a short time that the Scout idea was much broader in scope than he had anticipated.

A meeting was held on June 21, 1910, by a group of prominent Americans with experience in boys’ work. As a result, a “special committee on organization” was formed and a set of bylaws formulated. By October, 1910, an Executive Board was formed with Colin Livingston, President; Ernest Thompson Seton, Chief Scout; Daniel Beard, Commissioner; and James E. West, an attorney, as Chief Scout Executive. Oddly enough, Boyce never took an active role in the organization, but left the job to men he considered more qualified.

The History of the Pine Tree Council

Boy Scouting was founded in England in 1907 by Robert Baden-Powell and quickly came over to the States in the 1910 after William D. Boyce encountered Boy Scouting in England and brought it back to the United States. He introduced the concept of the Boy Scouts of America to local businessmen and leaders.

When Boy Scouting started in Maine is not clear, but our earliest photographs show Scout encampments in Saco and Brunswick areas in 1917 and a few units that were originally chartered in 1910.

Our council was organized in 1919, and at that time was known as the Portland Council, as it only included the city of Portland. Mr. Whitman Smith was the first Scout Executive, and during his term from 1919 until 1926, the balance of Cumberland County was added and the name changed to Cumberland County Council. The council was incorporated in 1927, and the land purchase of Camp William Hinds was made to honor the late son of Charles Hinds, who was on the Board of Trustees.

Mr. Hebert Patrick, for whom Patrick campsite is named, became the second Scout Executive in 1927 and kept this position until 1943. During this time, there were three other councils in Maine: the Katahdin Council in Bangor, the Pine Tree Council in Rockland and the York County Council in the Biddeford–Saco area. This arrangement of councils left a large area of Maine with no organized Scouting. Smaller councils grew in Lewiston–Auburn and Oxford and Franklin counties.

Major gifts of properties for the camping programs were added along the way, with Camp Nutter in 1930, Camp Bomazeen in 1944 and Camp Gustin in 1948. The Berry Farm, adjacent to Camp Hinds, was purchased in 1947 and was remodeled to become the Rotary Training Center.

In 1933, the councils in southern and central Maine merged to formally become the Pine Tree Council, and in 1936 the York County Council gave up their charter and joined Pine Tree Council. Early growth records show a youth membership of over 3,200 Scouts in 1933, over 6,000 in 1948 and doubling to over 12,000 members in 1958.

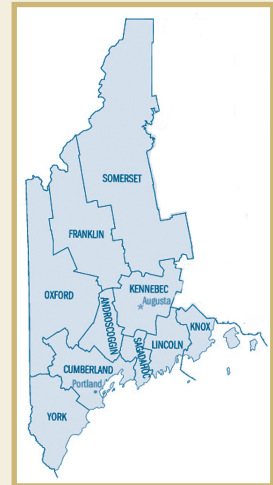

The Council Service Center on Auburn Street in Portland was erected in 1959 to become the official headquarters of the Pine Tree Council and was dedicated as the Niss Service Center in the 1960s to honor the support to Scouting from Bill Niss.

The History of the Pine Tree Council (continued)

During the past 90-plus years of Scouting, our council has seen the addition and deletion of many districts. Some of the early districts included York District, which was named for the York County Council, the Mount Zircon District in the Rumford area, the Abnaki District, the Sebago District, the Quabacook District and the Snowshoe District.

The Pine Tree Council currently has five districts: Abnaki, Casco Bay, Downeast, Kennebec Valley, and York, and we serve youth in 10 counties in Maine. Our program has grown to over 24,000 youth and adult members and serves youth in traditional programs such as Cub Scouting and Boy Scouting, but also offers Scoutreach, Sea Scouting, Venturing, Learning for Life school-based programs and Exploring.

The last two strategic plans have identified the need of replacing the Niss Service Center, which was originally planned to serve the needs of Pine Tree Council for 20 years. And as part of the current capital plan, money has been raised, and the New "Chuck" Cianchette Scout Service Center proudly opens in May 2005 to help take the Pine Tree Council Scouts, leaders and families into the next 50 years of Scouting!

The Pine Tree Council at a Glance

Incorporated in 1927, the Pine Tree Council, Boy Scouts of America, serves the youth in the 10 southern and central counties in Maine. The council covers over 12,000 square miles, serving a total population of nearly 800,000, and is currently divided into five geographical districts and two special program divisions.

The council supports nearly 18,000 young people and over 3,300 volunteers annually, including 5,000 participants in the camping programs. The Pine Tree Council has continued to grow and adjust with the demographics of the area and is proud of its accomplishments in Maine's diverse communities.

A volunteer Executive Board administers the Pine Tree Council. The council area is divided into five districts and two program divisions, each with a local volunteer committee structure. Community organizations provide volunteers to help administer and deliver programs to youth in their area. The council employs full-time and part-time staff to help administer, maintain and develop programs.

The council serves youth in the following programs:

Cub Scouts—serves boys in grades 1–5

Boy Scouts—serves boys ages 11–18

Exploring, Learning for Life and Venturing—Co-educational programs serving young men and women ages 14–20

2004 Program Highlights:

- Achieved balanced growth in membership
- 131 young men achieved the rank of Eagle Scout
- 74% of all Troops attended summer camp
- Over 2,600 Cub Scouts attended camping program

2004 Finance Highlights:

- Ended year with balanced budget

Cub Scout 75th Anniversary

In 2005 Cub Scouting celebrates its 75th anniversary! Since its origin, the program of the Boy Scouts of America has been an educational experience concerned with values. In 1910, the first Scouting activities were designed to build character, physical fitness, practical skills and service. These elements were a part of the original Cub Scout program started in 1930 and continue to be part of Cub Scouting today.

Cub Scouting has 12 core values that Cub Scout leaders use throughout all elements of the program—service projects, ceremonies, games, skits, songs, crafts and all the other activities enjoyed at den and pack meetings.

As part of the 75th anniversary, special events to help recognize this special birthday year are being planned at council, district and unit events. Cub Camping helps celebrate the 75th anniversary with a new Cub Scout Outdoor Activity Award, which Cub Scouts can earn at each level of Cub Scouting by attending summer camp and working on specific advancements.

The Pine Tree Council has a commemorative council strip patch for the 75th anniversary. Folks can also get the official Cub Scouting 75th anniversary emblem, which depicts Cub Scouts still having fun!

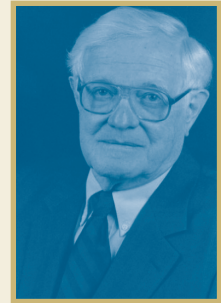

Cub Scouts, Webelos, and their families and packs can also earn the Cub Scouting 75th anniversary awards by participating in events throughout the year. Activities such as hosting a birthday party, researching the Cub Scout history, participating in a parade or celebrating the 75th birthday at the pack's blue-and-gold banquet all help Cub Scouts have a good time and remember the importance of Cub Scouting in the lives of many young boys and their families!

William U. Niss Scout Service Center

Until August 1, 1958, the office of the Pine Tree Council had been located at 142 Free Street, Portland, in the Chamber of Commerce Building. In November 1957 the council was notified by the Portland United Fund that they would need our space by November 1958. Subsequently, in cooperating with the United Fund, the Pine Tree Council agreed to vacate earlier, and on August 1 moved to temporary quarters on Baxter Boulevard. A committee under the chairmanship of Heywood Sawyer was appointed to study the office quarters problem.

The Executive Board authorized the officers to seek funds in the amount of approximately $40,000 and carry out the building project. So on Friday, November 21, 1958, William U. Niss of Bath, President of the Pine Tree Council, Boy Scouts of America, announced the plans for the construction of a council office building to serve as the administrative service center of the council. The decision to build came about as a result of a year-long study precipitated by the continuing growth of the council. President Niss named a building committee consisting of Heywood Sawyer, Chairman; Wilbur Ingalls; Harold Colbeth; Israel Bernstein; Donald Philbrick; Edward Robinson; Campbell Niven; Gerald Beverage; Robert Bass; Sumner Oleson; Garfield Ross; and Clinton E. Rose.

A most desirable site was located, and by March 1959 rezoning had been achieved, plans for the building prepared and necessary funds raised. Assistance from all Scouts was requested in securing donations of material and services, and the response from all sections of the council was most gratifying. Ground was broken for the service center on April 6, the cornerstone was laid on June 7 and the building was occupied on August 15, 1959.

Forty-five years later, the council Scout office, which was named in honor of William U. Niss in 1968, has served the council well. And even today, William U. Niss is still an active and vibrant supporter of Scouting. His vision and leadership paved a path that many have trod. And thanks to William U. Niss and the leadership of the council in 1959, we are able to take the next step in our growth.

What Is Learning For Life?

Purpose

*L*earning for Life is designed to support schools and community-based organizations in their efforts to prepare youth to successfully handle the complexities of contemporary society and to enhance their self-confidence, motivation and self-esteem. Learning for Life also helps youth develop social and life skills, assists in character development and career preparedness, and helps youth formulate positive personal values. It prepares youth to make ethical decisions that will help them achieve their full potential.

Adults are selected by the participating organization for involvement in the program.

Color, race, religion, gender, sexual orientation, ethnic background, economic status and citizenship are not criteria for participation by youth or adults.

School demand for character education programs has greatly influenced the dramatic growth of Learning for Life. Learning for Life has been adopted by more than 19,000 schools and organizations nationwide, serving close to 1.7 million youth.

Program Components

Learning for Life has five program components.

Elementary Program. The elementary program is designed for kindergarten through sixth grade. The curriculum for each grade level consists of 61 lesson plans designed to reinforce social, ethical and academic skills in such areas as critical and creative thinking, ethical decision making, conflict resolution, interpersonal relationships, practical living skills, building self-esteem, writing and other language arts, and participating in citizenship.

Special-Needs Program. The special-needs Learning for Life program teaches students with special needs the life skills they need to achieve self-sufficiency. The lessons also focus on and enhance student self-development.

What Is Learning For Life? (continued)

Seventh- /Eighth-Grade Program. This school-based feature called the Builders program has three components.

Community Role Models are recruited to enable mentors to motivate and interact with students. Role models and mentors with backgrounds similar to those of students share their personal paths to success, including obstacles and successes.

Teachers Guide is a series of 44 age-appropriate lesson plans for each grade. The lessons are divided into four sections: Character Education Lessons, Building Relationships Lessons, Citizenship Lessons, and Career Education Lessons.

Life Choices: A Character Game is a CD-ROM interactive computer game included with the Teachers Guide for each grade. It leads students through ethical situations that require a choice. The game features feedback by giving instant consequences of the choices students make. The game ends with a variety of reports, detailing how students performed in light of certain character traits.

Senior High Program. The senior high school program continues Learning for Life's school-to-careers emphasis and is for ninth- through 12th-grade students. This school-based program consists of a series of 35 workshops that teach the practical skills necessary to acquire a job and stay employed.

Exploring Program. Exploring is a worksite-based and hands-on career-based program for young men and women who are 14 (and have completed the eighth grade) or 15 through 20 years old.

The Pine Tree Council Camps

Camp William Hinds

Camp Hinds, now in its 78th year of operation, is located on Panther Pond, part of the Sebago Lakes Region, in Raymond. Camp Hinds proudly serves as the council's primary Boy Scouts resident camp, offering seven weeks of traditional resident camping every summer for Boy Scouts along with a host of other activities and programs.

Camp Hinds was purchased in 1927 for the Scouts by the Pine Tree Council and named after William B. Hinds, the deceased son of Charles Hinds, who served on the Board of The Pine Tree Council. The camp consists of approximately 280 acres of land located on Panther Pond and bisected by the Tenny River. The Berry Farm, now the Training Center and ranger residence along with six acres of land was purchased in 1947, when plans were developed by the council to offer year-round camping facilities for the Scouts.

Programs hosted at Camp Hinds include:

- Boy Scout Resident Camping
- Trail to Eagle and Counselor in Training
- High Adventure Trek Programs
- FunPack Weekends
- Casco Bay Day Camp
- OKPIK—Winter Survival Training
- Winter Camp
- COPE and rock climbing courses
- Trailblazer program for Cub Scouts

Off-season rental opportunities for units are popular at Camp Hinds, offering campsites, cabins or the Training Center Lodge. Many council trainings and district events are also held at Camp Hinds.

Summer camp facilities include a low and high ropes course with climbing and rappelling tower; rifle, shotgun, BB and archery ranges; over a mile of waterfront, including a boating area, main waterfront with docks and West Beach; 14 campsites; a dining hall; a craft shop; Madockawanda Lodge Council Ring; Konecki Health Lodge; Rec Hall; staff cabins; and more. Camp Hinds was proud to host its 75th anniversary celebration in 2003 that unveiled the opening of the Adams History Museum.

Camp Bomazeen

Camp Bomazeen is located in North Belgrade, Maine. The camp boasts over 330 acres, which includes the majority of the bog on the North Bay of Great Pond. Camp Bomazeen was donated by a local man in 1944 and was used for many years as a summer camp for local troops and as a council resident camp for Boy Scouts and local day camp use. The camp is named after Chief Bomazeen, a local Native American chief, whose spirit is said to still roam the woods of Camp Bomazeen.

The Pine Tree Council identified the need for a Cub Scout resident camp facility in the last strategic plan, and Camp Bomazeen is currently being developed as a Cub Scout Adventure Camp to serve the growing needs of our Cub Scouts and families.

Major plans for renovating Camp Bomazeen include relocating the camp road, adding family-style cabins, upgrading campsite facilities and adding themed program areas to complement the structures already in place at Camp Bomazeen.

Programs areas included in the Cub Camp are:

- Native American Archery Area
- Wild West BB Range
- Medieval Castle for Scout Skills
- Pirates Cove Boating Area
- Lighthouse in Aquatics
- Sports Field
- Playground Area

Camp Nutter

Camp Nutter is located on Loon Pond in Acton, Maine, and consists of 27 acres of land. Camp Nutter primarily serves as a rental property for units with campsites and small cabins.

Camp Nutter has seen many changes over the years since it was first operated by York County Boy Scout Council. It was deeded over to the Pine Tree Council in 1937. For many years local troops had small cabins at Nutter and did summer camp at Nutter. Most of the original cabins have been removed.

Camp Nutter's location and facilities make it a great location for York District Day Camp, which runs for three weeks in July, and for the many district trainings and events also hosted there.

The facilities include Baden Powell Cabin, Seaton Cabins, Kiwanis Hall, latrines, a council ring, a covered pavilion and many campsites. The strategic plans for upgrading Camp Nutter include finishing renovations to Kiwanis Hall, and upgrading the bathroom facilities and Baden Powell Cabin.

Camp Gustin

Located on Loon Pond in Sabattus, Camp Gustin is a beautiful wilderness camp. Charles Gustin donated the property to the Pine Tree Council in 1948. This undeveloped camp hosts Abnaki Day Camp and many local district events. It also offers many campsites for weekend rentals for Scouting units.

At Camp Gustin you will find a large sports field, a council ring, a waterfront area, a covered pavilion and bathrooms. A short hike to the upper portion of camp offers a chance for Scouts to see a cranberry bog and refuge for much of the local wildlife. Many local units have their favorite campsites to use for weekend trips.

A new parking lot has been cleared this past fall and will be finished for summer use in 2005.

Camp KV for Kids

The Pine Tree Council leases Camp KV for Kids in Readfield, Maine. The property is owned by the nonprofit Board of Directors for Camp KV and serves as a rental facility for the Scouts.

Camp KV boasts 65 acres with much frontage along Maranacook Lake. The facility offers a large sports field, a lodge with a kitchen area, docks and waterfront, and bathroom and shower facilities along with lean-tos.

The Pine Tree Council uses Camp KV for Kennebec Valley Day Camps, Junior Leader Training programs and weekend rental facilities.

Order of the Arrow

History of the Madockawanda Lodge

The Order of the Arrow was created in 1915 in the Philadelphia Council at Treasure Island Scout Camp with E. Urner Goodman as its founder. The Order of the Arrow was started as an honor society for Boy Scouts who best exemplify the Scout Oath and Law, and to promote camping and to carry on camp traditions. It was originally reported as "Wimachtendienks Tribe," then known as "WWW" and eventually called "Order of the Arrow." The Order of the Arrow was founded upon the principles of brotherhood, cheerfulness and service.

The Pine Tree Council's Madockawanda Lodge came into existence on July 10, 1944, when the first seven members were inducted into the Order of the Arrow. These charter members of our lodge were Howard Butler (the Camp Hinds Director from 1944 to 1947), Frank W.P. Bailey, Fred Foster, Lee Weeks, Phil Foss, Jordan Prouty and Arthur Berry.

As a part of their ordeal, these candidates were directed to prepare a ceremonial area on the hill just south of the present Cadigan Lodge and to construct an altar fireplace and ceremonial altar. At that time we took the name Madockawanda, based upon a story told by Uncle Frank Bailey about the great Indian Chief Madockawanda who unified the Penobscot nation.

The snapping turtle was taken as the totem of our lodge, and the clap 1, 1-2 as our lodge clap. Our founders were unaware at the time that the turtle was also the totem of the Unami Lodge #1.

When members are first elected to the Order of the Arrow, they must complete an induction ordeal. After one year in the Order of the Arrow, members may chose to reaffirm their membership by becoming a Brotherhood member. The highest recognition in the Order of the Arrow is to be awarded the Vigil Honor for members who have exceptional service to the lodge. Order of the Arrow members can be identified by the Order of the Arrow lodge pocket flap or by the Order of the Arrow white sash worn for ceremonies.

During the early period, the Order of the Arrow was almost entirely a summertime program. Elections and inductions were held every two weeks during the summer season. Following national policy, no elections were held outside of the summer camp season.

Camp Bomazeen opened in the summer of 1949 and the Bomazeen Chapter of the Lodge was started. Jaro Konecny of Salem, Maine, one of its founders, served as an Order of the Arrow advisor at Bomazeen. The two council camps operated as two chapters of the lodge. Later this was expanded to three chapters during the 1940s and 1950s, when Camp Nutter was opened as a full-time council camp. Camp Nutter dates back to the 1930s, when York County was a separate council operating its own camp.

The separate chapters met as a lodge once a year, during the Christmas school vacation, when it held its annual meeting for fellowship and election of lodge officers. By the mid-1950s, the ordeals had been expanded to include June and September work parties at each camp, as well as ordeals every two weeks during the summer season.

Each chapter had a well-trained ceremonial team consisting largely of camp staff members. Early tapout ceremonies (now calling-out ceremonies) at Camp Hinds were held at the parade ground. The Chief came by canoe from Chipmunk Point, climbed the bank to the assembled troops and tapped out those who had been elected. By the early 1950s, the tapout had become part of an elaborate Indian campfire.

These ordeals at both Camp Hinds and Camp Bomazeen were held every two weeks because, in those days of provisional camping, most Scouts attended camp for two weeks at a time, and the elections were held during the second week of the cycle.

By 1955 the move was on nationally to get more Scout troops to come to camp as units under their own leadership. Camp Hinds and Bomazeen gradually moved from camps with 90 percent provisional campers to 90 percent troop camping in the mid-1960s. With this change came major revision in the procedures used by the lodge too. National rules dictated that elections must be held in the home troop, not at summer camp, although for many years some troops still came to camp expecting to have an OA election there.

The chapters of our lodge then had to subdivide to provide for election and camp promotion teams in every district, of which the council then had eight. For several years we had both "camp" chapters and "district" chapters functioning together, with two lodge vice-chiefs, each supervising the districts closer to his camp. From 1975 through 1979 there were two lodge vice-chiefs elected each year, one to supervise the Camp Hinds sector of the lodge and the other to supervise the Camp Bomazeen chapters. Meetings were held at district round tables to inform Scoutmasters of the new procedures, and we began to hold Order of the Arrow elections only at troop meetings within the districts.

Since all the candidates had already been elected before going to summer camp, most of them began coming to the June ordeal weekends instead of waiting until their troop went to camp. The need for ceremonies every two weeks in camp diminished, and those ceremonies were gradually eliminated.

Now in 2005, the Madockawanda Lodge currently has 532 registered members. The Order of the Arrow is overseen by youth members serving in elected positions as the Lodge Chief, Vice Chief, Secretary and Treasurer for the lodge, with adults in the roles of Lodge Advisor and Staff Advisor. Each of the five local district chapters also elects Chapter Chiefs with adult advisors.

The Madockawanda Lodge still carries on the strong traditions of cheerful service to camp, and some of the larger projects in recent years have been rebuilding of the council rings at all of our camps and rebuilding the main waterfront at Camp Hinds.

Pine Tree Council Endowment

“Being Prepared for the Future”

This is a critical time for the Scouting program in the Pine Tree Council. The Pine Tree Council has received very meaningful financial support throughout the past decade, but recent trends strongly indicate that those traditional sources of income will not keep pace with the financial needs of Scouting. Additional sources of income will be necessary if the council is to meet the ever-increasing costs of bringing a high-quality program to our youth.

At the same time, changes in our society and its lifestyles have dramatically increased the need for the expansion of Scouting services, facilities, programs and training that are essential to continue helping the young people of our communities grow into responsible and participating leaders.

It is important that we provide assurance that the Pine Tree Council will continue to play its vital role in the growth and development of future generations of young people.

The return from an ever-growing endowment fund would allow the Pine Tree Council to do many things. The following are just a few of them:

- Increase and improve the frequency and quality of training programs
- Continue to increase membership by reaching out to a more diverse population
- Upgrade and improve camp facilities
- Continue to expand programs for low-income and special-needs youngsters

In its gratitude for support to the endowment fund, the Pine Tree Council offers four distinct recognition awards.

Silver Beaver

This is the highest award that a local council can present to a volunteer. Established in 1931, the Silver Beaver Award is presented for distinguished service to young people within a Boy Scouts of America local council. More than 50,000 recognitions have been conferred to date. A recipient must be a registered adult member of the BSA at least 21 years of age. Silver Beaver Awards are presented on the basis of the number of units in a council. This recognition is based on the recommendations of one's Scouting peers.

Eagle Scouts

Significance

The fact that a boy is an Eagle Scout has always carried with it a special significance, not only in Scouting but also as he enters higher education, business or industry, and community service. The award is a performance-based achievement with standards that have been well-maintained over the years. Not every boy who joins a Boy Scout troop earns the Eagle Scout rank; only about 4 percent of all Boy Scouts do so. This represents more than 1 million Boy Scouts who have earned the rank since 1911. Nevertheless, the goals of Scouting—citizenship training, character development, and personal fitness—remain important for all Scouts, whether or not they attain the Eagle Scout rank.

Progression

To earn the Eagle Scout rank, the highest advancement rank in Scouting, a Boy Scout must fulfill requirements in the areas of leadership, service and outdoor skills. Although many options are available to demonstrate proficiency in these areas, a number of specific skills are required to advance through the ranks—Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, Star, Life and Eagle. To advance, a Boy Scout must pass specific tests that are organized by requirements and merit badges.

Merit Badges

Merit badges signify the mastery of certain Scoutcraft skills, as well as helping boys increase their skill in an area of personal interest. Of the 120 merit badges available, 21 must be earned to qualify for Eagle Scout. Of this group, 12 badges are required, including First Aid, Citizenship in the Community, Citizenship in the Nation, Citizenship in the World, Communications, Environmental Science, Personal Fitness, Personal Management, Camping and Family Life. In addition, a Scout has a choice between Emergency Preparedness and Lifesaving, and a choice among Cycling, Hiking and Swimming.

Scoutmaster Conferences

At each of his rank advancements, a Boy Scout takes part in a Scoutmaster conference. These conferences help the Scout to set goals for himself in line with his individual talents and abilities. At each conference, the Scoutmaster helps him evaluate how well he accomplished his present goal and then works with him in setting new goals.

Service and Responsibility

Beginning with the Star rank, and continuing through Life and Eagle, a Scout must demonstrate participation in increasingly more responsible service projects. At these levels, he also must demonstrate leadership skills by holding one or more specific youth positions of responsibility in his patrol and/or troop.

Steps in Advancement

Advancement, one of the eight methods by which the aims of Scouting are achieved, has four steps through each award level.

First, the Scout learns. Much of his learning comes from other boys in his patrol or troop and by active participation in troop programs. His patrol activities are directed toward the skills he needs. Every troop hike, camping trip or other activity offers potential learning experiences. A Scout learns to pitch a tent by pitching one, to use a compass by finding directions and to cook a meal by having to prepare and eat it.

Second, the Scout is tested. The specific requirements determine the kind of testing. Verbal testing is sufficient in some instances. In other instances, a Scout must demonstrate his skills by doing.

Third, the Scout is reviewed. The purpose of the review is to ensure that all requirements for advancement have been met. This includes a check of the Scout's attitude and practice of the ideals of Scouting, in addition to his Scoutcraft skills. The decision regarding whether a Scout has met the required standards to qualify for rank advancement begins with the troop and for the Eagle Scout rank is approved by the district, local council, and finally, the national council.

Fourth, the Scout is recognized. The final step in advancement involves presentation of the badge, usually at a ceremony before the entire troop.

Boy Scouts With Disabilities

Boy Scouts with disabilities may qualify for the Eagle Scout rank. Each Scout must earn as many of the required merit badges as he can. He then submits an application for alternate merit badges. His BSA local council determines the alternate merit badges for him to earn.

National Eagle Scout Association

Founded in 1972, the National Eagle Scout Association (NESA) maintains contact with Eagle Scouts to sustain their interest in Scouting. Any Eagle Scout may join the association. Applications for membership in NESA are available through your local council, on the BSA Web page (www.scouting.org) or by contacting the Eagle Scout Service at the national office.

Distinguished Eagle Scout Award

The Distinguished Eagle Scout Award was established in 1969 to acknowledge Eagle Scouts who have distinguished themselves in business, professions and service to their country. Only Eagle Scouts who earned the Eagle Scout rank a minimum of 25 years previously are eligible for nomination. The award is given by the National Eagle Scout Service upon the recommendation of a committee of distinguished Eagle Scouts.

Note: This list represents the records of the Pine Tree Council and its predecessors. We have strived to compile this list from original lists both locally and nationally. Please contact the council if you notice any error or omission.

Chartered Organizations and the Boy Scouts of America

Purpose

That the purpose of this corporation shall be to promote, through organization and cooperation with other agencies, the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance, and kindred virtues, using the methods which are now in common use by Boy Scouts.

Sec. 3, federal charter, Boy Scouts of America
June 15, 1916, by the United States Congress

Charters

Two kinds of charters are issued by the Boy Scouts of America: one to community organizations and the other to BSA local councils. The first enables community groups to use the Scouting program under their own leadership as a service to their children, youth and families. The other empowers local councils to help chartered organizations effectively use the Scouting program and to expand the use of the program to other community groups.

How Community Organizations Use the Scouting Program

Schools and community and religious organizations, with the help of the BSA, organize Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, Varsity Scout teams, Venturing crews, and Sea Scout ships for boys and young men and women. They manage these units and control the program of activities to support the goals and objectives of the chartered organizations. When community organizations establish a new unit, they must take these two important actions to ensure a quality Scouting program:

1. Selecting leadership. The head of the chartered organization appoints a chartered organization representative to provide leadership in the selection of a committee of adults that will provide overall supervision for the unit's program. The committee selects the adult unit leaders who will work with the youth. The chartered organization representative is also a voting member of the local council and may serve as a member of the district committee.
2. Providing a meeting place and promoting a good program. The chartered organization arranges for adequate meeting facilities for the unit and promotes through its committee the full use of the program, including outdoor experiences, advancement, recognitions and, in particular, Scouting's values.

How the Boy Scouts of America Supports the Community Organization

To support approximately 124,000 Scouting units owned and operated by chartered organizations, more than 300 BSA councils provide professional counseling and administration, commissioner service, training for leaders, camping and outdoor facilities, program materials and literature, planning tools, and other program aids. Councils also maintain records on units and their membership, provide rank certificates and merit badge cards and maintain service centers where badges, insignia, literature and other help can be obtained.

In addition, council representatives conduct annual charter review conferences with chartered organization personnel to evaluate how effectively the Scouting program is being delivered and how it might be improved.
